

2016 Primary Schedule

Note: All dates are primaries unless otherwise noted as a caucus. Primaries and caucuses which are only being held by one party on that date are noted as (R) or (D). The delegate counts represent the total delegates from that state for each respective party. Primary and caucus results will be updated regularly.

Tue, Nov. 8	General Election

The General Election occurs on the Tuesday right after the first Monday in November. For this reason, the General Election can never be held on the first of November.

Allocation – All Democratic primary/caucus delegates are proportionally allocated. Republican primaries/caucuses are listed as Proportional (P), Winner-Take-All (WTA), or Winner-Take-Most (WTM).

Proportional – Delegates are awarded based on the percentage of the vote received by candidates, or some formulation of dividing up the delegates

Winner Take All – All delegates are given to the winner of the contest

Winner Take Most – Some delegates are reserved for the winner, some may be divided proportiona

Unbound – Delegates are not bound to a specific candidate and can support any candidate of their choosing, varies by state party

Type

Open– Voters may vote in either party primary but can choose only one

Closed – Only voters registered in their respective party may vote in the party primary

Mixed – A semi-open or semi-closed environment, unaffiliated voters can choose to vote in either primary or can switch registration the day of voting
